VISUAL BOARDS

INTERAXO

Digital boards ensure efficient building projects with a clear overview.

Planning a building project is time-consuming work with many pitfalls, but by using Visual Boards you can work more efficiently and create a clear overview of the project. As the visual presentation is based on a combination of VDC and ICE methodology, it becomes much easier to plan and design projects with greater precision right from the start.

Replace Post-it notes with digital spaces

Visual Boards is a digital tool that can be used in different project phases, from planning to tender procedures and implementation. The work can be made easier and more efficient already from the project start, as the visual presentation makes it easy to plan and design the project process. Replace handwritten Post-it notes with digital ones that can easily be moved between days, disciplines and participants with an easy drag-and-drop function. With Visual Boards, project participants can also easily answer questions and plan the continued development of the project – in one and the same place.
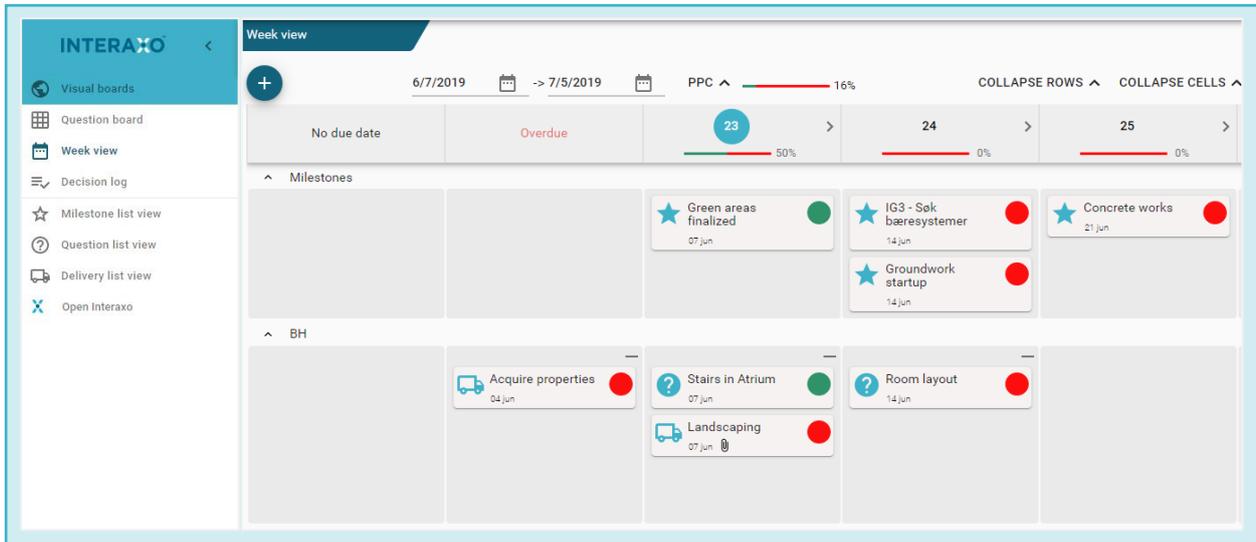

Efficient meetings – reduce meeting time with Visual Boards

With a quick glance at Visual Boards you will be well prepared for project meetings. You also don't have to handle extra minutes from meetings if you use digital spaces. The result is shorter meetings with time for good and goal-oriented discussions. With the help of Visual Boards, challenges and ambiguities can easily be identified and remedied early in the project, which in turn facilitates communication and cooperation during the course of the project.

With Visual Boards you get:

• A tool in which all project participants can see the status of the project

• More efficient meetings in which everyone is involved and participates

• Greater flexibility as you are no longer tied to a particular meeting room

• Chance for meeting participants to prepare and send in their questions in advance

• A visual overview of questions that are difficult to solve and therefore require further work

• Minutes from meetings are always available and up to date

• More enjoyable meetings

Follow-up

Question-and-Answer Boards is a tool that makes it easier to manage questions and answers that arise in a project. Different disciplines can send questions to each other via digital Post-it notes giving all the participants a clear overview of which questions are current at different points in time.

Deliveries

NEWS

With Visual Boards, all project members get a good overview of project deliveries as the suppliers themselves can register their deliveries. Files can be attached and project members can add comments to the deliveries.

Progress

NEWS

When you work with Visual Boards you can easily create overall project milestones and add important interim goals. Visual status indicators provide an overview of deliveries, any questions and how the project is progressing. The weekly view contains a status bar that shows the planned completion posts for a selected period.

Now all project members can have access to a completely digital overview – invest in Visual Boards now!
