

Visual Boards is a superb tool for projects in the planning phase. As the visual presentation is based on a combination of VDC and ICE methods it is much easier to plan and design projects with greater precision right from the start. With a simple drag-and-drop function, you can move sticky notes from different disciplines and members, deal with questions and answers, and plan for the continued development of the project.

Visual Boards is available from several different units, such as, for example, tablets. As you work digitally, all the information is always available and saved. This means that you can work more efficiently before, during and after your meetings.

Questions and answers

Question-and-answer boards are an aid to dealing with the questions and answers that arise during a project. Different disciplines can send questions to each other and, via digital sticky notes, all participants get a clear overview of which questions are relevant at different points in time. As it is possible to leave detailed answers, communication and collaboration between project members is improved. It is also possible to upload pictures, documents and other attachments.

All questions are shown in a to and a from view as well as a weekly view. At the project meetings, it is then easy to visualise the questions that need to be worked on during the week. The focus of the meeting will then be to communicate answers to the questions that have been raised. By preparing questions for the meeting and not having to deal with extra minutes of the meeting, the time of the meeting can be halved.

With a Visual Board of questions and answers, you get:

- A tool in which all project members have access to a common overview of the project status
- More efficient meetings in which everyone participates and is involved
- Greater flexibility as you no longer have to use a particular meeting room
- Meeting participants who prepare and send in their questions in advance
- Better, visual overview of questions that are difficult to solve and therefore require further work
- Minutes that are always available and up to date
- Meetings that are more fun

Via the question and answer log, the questions for each project are sorted and filtered by the discipline that has raised and been allocated the task. The log can easily be exported to an Excel file via Interaxo, either during a project or at the end of it.

Visual Boards is available to buy as a stand-alone product or an integrated part of the collaboration solution Interaxo – tailored to your particular needs.

Get started today and save time and money! Contact us for a demo without any obligation.